CSV IMPORT AND EXPORT GUIDE

These CSV files are designed for Google Sheets, Excel, Numbers, and browser-local workflows.

Rules

- Keep the first row as the header row.
- Do not rename headers.
- Add custom fields only after the standard columns.
- Use UTF-8 CSV.
- Use YYYY-MM-DD for dates.
- Use semicolons inside cells when listing multiple regions or data categories.
- Avoid formulas in shared CSV files.
- Keep status values consistent so filtering works.

Standard Notice CSV Header

““csv

vendor_name,vendor_purpose,change_type,processing_region,data_categories,customer_segment,notice_date,effective_date

Status Values

- draft: facts are still being gathered.
- review: waiting for product, security, privacy, or counsel review.
- approved: ready to send.
- sent: notice has been sent.
- objection_open: objection period is active.
- blocked: missing facts, review, approval, or customer routing.
- closed: objection window closed and evidence is archived.

Date Checks

Before sending a notice, confirm:

- notice_date is the date the customer notice will be sent.
- effective_date is not earlier than the notice deadline unless counsel approves the approach.
- objection_deadline equals notice_date plus objection_window_days.
- Every sent row has an evidence link or internal archive reference.

Spreadsheet Import Steps

1. Import the CSV into a new spreadsheet.
2. Set date columns to plain date format.
3. Freeze the header row.
4. Protect the header row if your spreadsheet tool supports it.
5. Filter by notice_status, owner, and objection_deadline.
6. Export a backup CSV after each material workflow update.

Browser-Local Generator Use

The public NoticeKit generator does not upload data. When using generated copy, paste the final draft into your own document or evidence folder and update the relevant CSV evidence fields.

Fulfillment disclaimer:

NoticeKit provides operational templates and workflow materials. It is not a law firm, does not provide legal advice, and does not create an attorney-client relationship. Have qualified counsel review your notices, subprocessors, objection process, and customer communications before relying on them.
